Madame Yale's HAIR TONIC

Ladies and Gentlemen.—It has gone on record that Madame Yale's Excelsior Hair Tonic is the first and only remedy known to chemical science found to be a genuine hair specific. It has an affinity for the human hair for nourishing and in vigorous its entire structure. It is antiseptic in character, as well as stimulating; its action upon the scalp and hair is truly wonderful, inasmuch as it has never been known in a single instance to fail to cure scalp diseases and to create a luxuriant growth of healthy, beautiful hair. It stops hair falling within twenty-four hours and brings back the natural color to gray hair in nearly every instance. It is not a dye; it is not sticky or greasy; on the contrary it makes the hair soft, youthful, beautiful and glossy; keeps it in curl, it is a perfect hair dressing, and can be used by ladies gentlemen or children as a daily toilet requisite.
Its influence is delightfully soothing.

A FIERCE FIRE.

Two Blocks In New York
Ablaze.

Caused By Explosions In A Drug Factory.

Property Loss One Million—Number Of Dead Unknown.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A fire which started shortly after noon today in the eight story building of Tarrant & Co., at the northwest corner of Warren and Greenwich streets, was followed by a great explosion that wrecked the entire structure. Masonry and iron girders were hurled high in the air and the buildings in the neighborhood badly shattered. It is thought that scores of lives have been lost. The first explosion was followed by two others. Ambulances were called from all neighboring hospitals and extra surgeons were hurried to the scene. No less than sixty girls are thought to have been in the building when it was demolished. It is probable that many of the spectators were injured and killed, for the building exploded with a terrific report that shook the sky-scrapers on Broadway and sent thousands of fragments flying in all directions. There was a panic after the first shock of the explosion, and the crowd of fleeing persons met still another rushing to the scene of the disaster. Soon the ambulances came clanging up, and the work of looking for the injured and dead was begun. The firemen showed great bravery in fighting the blaze, as the first explosion was followed by others, which sent the burning mass out in great volleys. Those who witnessed the explosions say that a column of debris and smoke and flame was shot up 300 feet into the sky. For several minutes after the explosion pieces of sheet tin and other debris were falling eight or ten blocks away from the scene of the explosion.

Later Details.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30, 2.00 A. M.—The property loss caused by the fire and explosions is now estimated at one million dollars. The loss of life is not known, but it is calculated that there are at least thirty bodies in the ruins.
Owing to the exceedingly hot debris, no body had been gotten out at midnight. Thirty-five persons are reported missing, and one hundred men, women and children are on the list of injured. Chief Croker says that no fireman was killed, all his men being accounted for.

More Conservative View.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—William C. Allen of Tarrant & Co., said tonight, that, in his opinion, all the girls in the building succeeded in escaping except one. He said that fully ten minutes passed between the breaking out of the fire and the explosions. Another representative of the firm said that all the inmates of the building have been accounted for, but one. He judges that five minutes elapsed between the starting of the fire and the first explosion.
There were three explosions, the last being the severest.

ENDORSED BY THE ADMIRAL.

Rear Admiral Philip Hichborn, U.
S. N., has recommended in his annual report the building of a large wooden training ship at this yard. It is learned that the secretary will also favor the plan and the officials at the yard here feel quite confident that the plan will go through.

BOARD OF ASSESSORS' MEETING.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Assessors at the City Building on Tuesday evening, October 30th, (tonight,) at 7:30 o'clock, for the consideration of any business which may be legally brought before it.

By order of the Chairman,
O. DWIGHT HANCOCK,
Secretary.

CHAMPION'S TRIAL BEGINS TODAY.

ALFRED, ME., Oct. 29.—Alfred is busy preparing for the Champion murder trial, which is scheduled to begin tomorrow morning. The trial will undoubtedly be one of great interest, and a large attendance from surrounding towns is expected. It is now believed that the defense will allow County Attorney Matthews and Attorney General Haines, who are conducting the case for the state, to attempt to prove that the four members of the Goodwin household really came to their death by murder. This, it is claimed, will be a somewhat difficult matter. Lawyers Haley and Cleaves of Biddeford will act for the defense. Champion still maintains his confident attitude, and seems to borrow little trouble over the result of the trial.

MINERS AGAIN AT WORK.

SHAMOKIN, PENN., Oct. 29.—When the colliery whistles blew this morning, fifteen thousand men and boys began Trevorton, this place and Mount Carmel reported for work. The only collieries idle are the Henry Clay, Executor and Gorbun. They will be in operation in a few days.

SCRANTON, Oct. 29.—Work was resumed today at practically all of the collieries of the big coal companies in the Lackawanna and Wyoming districts. A few of the mines were not quite ready to start, but they will resume tomorrow or Wednesday.

A PEKIN DESPATCH.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—A news agency has received the following despatch from Pekin: "The foreign envoys have held a further meeting and decided to use the French note, in principle, as a basis for discussion. A company of French troops killed eight rebels in a district infested with Boxers, west of Pekin.
The international column returning from Pao-Ting Fu are purging the villages on the way, and destroying all arms that are found."

EARTHQUAKE AT CARACAS.

CARACAS, Oct. 29.—At 4:45 o'clock this morning, this city was visited by a severe earthquake. Fifteen people were killed and many injured. The United States legation was badly damaged.

ABOUT NUPTIALS.

The McCourt-Kirvan wedding takes place at the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning.

The marriage of Charles Franklin Pontaine, clarinet player in the Naval band, and Miss Emma White of Buffalo, N. Y., will take place today, Tuesday, in Newburyport, Mass. The couple are to live in this city.

Prof. W. J. Seabury of New York city will officiate at the Seabury-Rovey wedding in St. John's church, Nov.
10th. Dr. Seabury will also occupy the pulpit for Rev. Henry E. Hovey on the following Sunday.

Capt. Fred Lindsay of the steamer Sagamore and his bride (formerly Miss Emma Crowley of Sorrento, Me.) have finished their wedding tour and arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Paul, on Woodbury avenue, where they will pass the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Fisher Eldredge went to New York on Saturday to attend a grand wedding dinner to be given Mr. and Mrs. George Wilder on their return to their new home in that city. The magnificent wedding presents have been forwarded to New York.

The marriage of Joseph F. Lamb, proprietor of the Manhattan cafe, and Miss Minnie Mulo, a popular milliner of Somersworth, will take place at St.
Martin's church, Somersworth, on Monday morning, Nov. 12th. After a bridal trip to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Lamb will take up their residence in this city.

"GLAD JIG IS UP."

So Alvord Said, When Arrested.

Officers Found Him In Boston
Boarding House.

Defaulting Teller Taken To New York
For Arraignment.

BOSTON, MASS., Oct. 29.—Cornelius J. Alvord, Jr., the note teller who robbed the First National bank of New York of $700,000, was arrested at a boarding house on Huntington avenue, in this city, this afternoon at two o'clock. He was taken into custody by Chief Inspector Watts and two New York detectives. Alvord was at once taken to the police headquarters, photographed and measured. He waived examination and left for New York at five o'clock, in the custody of the New York officers. "I'm glad the jig is up," he said, "and that I've got to face the music." He had but little money with him and said that most of the bank's money which he took had been used up in stock speculation and that he had lived at the rate of fifty thousand dollars a year. He declared that he had not seen his wife for two weeks, and he seemed relieved that he had finally been located by the officers. The Boston police were notified last Wednesday that the missing teller was in this city, but, although he was seen once or twice by various people, he disappeared and was not located until yesterday. Today the officers went to the boarding house after dinner and found Alvord in a back room in the second story. Alvord will be arraigned before the United States commissioner tomorrow. He reached New York at eleven o'clock tonight.

A POINT THE WORLD SWINGS ON.

And Boston—Well if you have been there an even hundred times you don't know the "old town."

You can go to some new place every hour for a month and at each place find something that will interest you. Boston's sacred landmarks are Bunker Hill monument, the Old North church, Copp's Hill burying ground, the old Cradle of Liberty, the old State House, the old South church.

Its later day interesting points are the public library, State House, Trinity church, Symphony hall, the score of magnificent public buildings dedicated to educational work, and the great office buildings wherein is transacted Boston's business.

Of course in a city like the Hub there must be amusements of all kinds, and Boston's theatres rank among the best in the world, while the productions which "hold the boards" are ever the most stupendous and brilliant that the theatrical world can present.

Don't you think that with such an array of entertainment and sight seeing as is at hand in Boston at present, you ought to take advantage of the low rate Fall Excursion that the Boston & Maine is to run to Boston from Portsmouth on Nov. 1 by the regular train? The rate for the round trip is but $1.70 and the limit on tickets allows you to remain in Boston until Nov. 2. This is the trip you want, so don't miss it.

ANNUAL MISSIONARY TEA.

The annual tea meeting and mite box opening of the auxiliary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church was held at the vestry on Monday evening, with a large attendance. A bountiful supper was served, and the following programme followed:

Hymn 326 of the Hymnal.
Responsive Scripture Reading.
Roll Call, answered with Items of General Missionary Intelligence.
Benediction.
Solo, "Warrior, My God, To Thee."
Miss Nellie Boyce.
Paper, "Japan as Related to the Chinese Situation."
Mrs. Fogg.
Solo, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own."
Miss Martha Cavitt.
Reading of the Ready for October.
Miss Marion Boyce.

HEARD AT RANDOM.

Never More Beautiful.

A prominent merchant of this city, who rides frequently over the Eastern division of the Boston and Maine rail road between here and Boston, remarked on Monday evening: "I notice that a number of the penny-a-liners in the papers have persisted in saying that the autumn foliage this year is not so brilliant as usual, and they summon several invented excuses for this condition. Now they are all wrong. Why, the foliage was never more beautiful than at present. Nor has it lingered with us so long. Especially the shrubbery, from one foot to ten in height, has remarkable loveliness, showing a marked preponderance of red and bright yellow. The only noticeable difference which I have noted between this autumn and others is that the maples perhaps lack their ordinary brilliancy. Along the Eastern division, going into Boston, there are plenty of opportunities to study the gorgeous shrubbery. You'll see whole branches turned one solid mass of the most vivid color, instead of a part of the leaves, as is more frequently the case. I guess these people who have cast aspersions on the foliage this fall haven't been out of the city to appreciate it, or they would certainly be more admiring in their remarks about it."

Price of Coal to Drop.

"I believe the price of coal will drop before the end of this week," said a local dealer in the black chunks, on Monday afternoon. "It is not probable that the price will come down to the figure that prevailed before the strike, but the reduction will be considerable. This will be good news, of course, to everybody who has to buy coal, but we shall feel as pleased over it as anybody. Really, we don't like to have to charge so much for the fuel."

Croker's Fight For Life.

A prominent Portsmouth republican who was in New York last week said, a day or two ago: "While at the metropolis, I had quite a talk with a friend of mine who is a district Tammany leader. Although he is a democrat, he has no idea that Bryan will carry New York state or come anywhere near it.
He told me that this is Dick Croker's fight for his life and that he is simply using Bryan as a cat's paw to save himself. 'This means life or death to Croker,' said my friend, 'and he knows it.'"

Bostonians' New Opera.

Said a local playgoer, on Monday evening, between the acts of A Hot Old Time: "I think I shall take particular care to go into Boston this week and see the Bostonians in their new operational offering, The Viceroy, for I hear, on excellent authority, that it is one of the best things they have ever produced. I wonder if any Portsmouth people attended their opening at the Boston theatre tonight? It is reasonable to expect that quite a number of Mr. Barnabee's friends here will take in the opera before next Sunday."

A HOT OLD TIME.

To say that A Hot Old Time pleased the audience at Music hall on Monday evening is putting it very mildly.
It more than pleased. The show was one of the best of its class seen here in a long time. The strong notices given it by the press of Portland, Me., where the attraction appeared last week, were entirely marited.

The fun is "fast and furious" (as the stereotyped term is) from start to finish, everybody in the piece contributing his and her share to keep the audience in good humor.

The specialties introduced during the action of the play are all high class.
Prominent among those who take part in them are the Sisters Gladstone, J.
Aldrich Libbey, Barry and Halvarts and Tom Ripley.

In the cast are such capable mirth-provokers as Dan Gracey, Ed O'Connor, Charles Barry and Jack Darlington, and a group of mighty pretty girls who know how to charm the people looking at them.

Ada Burnett as Mrs. Stonewall Blazer, ("boss of the whole outfit") is dashy and captivating in the part to such a distinctive degree that she makes a most pronounced hit. The other girls are just rollicking enough to be all right in the work given them.

ALL LOOK TO AMERICA.

Our Attitude on Chinese Question Favorably Received.

CHINA WILL WELCOME OUR ACTION

Yang Yu, Formerly Minister to Washington and Now Accredited to Russian Court, Confident of Success of Arbitration.

New York, Oct. 29.—The Herald publishes the following from its correspondent at Yalta, Russia:

"The appearance of the news that Russia would gladly welcome the idea of arbitration, so as to end the Chinese imbroglio, which she foresees dragging on endlessly unless some measure puts an end to the present condition of affairs."

"But while Russia, and especially her ruler, might have very much liked arbitration in the matter, on looking it over calmly the possibilities of diplomatic failure appeared so great, owing to the jealousies of the powers, that Russia could not risk it, and that is why only a suggestion was thrown out."

"The United States is the only country interested that could today offer arbitration with a chance of its being successful. She has shown herself just to the Chinese, and none of the jealousies that are the lot of the other allies. If she made the offer, she would certainly have Russia at her back, that of course also meaning France."

"But would China agree? That is a very interesting point. It is by no means I am able to tell you—that is to say, though one who is qualified to give an opinion of worth."

"I met him today. He had just come down to Yalta so as to be near the fountain head of Russian politics, which today is of such vital importance to China. That personage was his excellency Yang Yu, Chinese minister to the court of St. Petersburg."

"This is not in any sense an interview, but merely a few ideas given in the course of conversation during a visit which I had solicited in order to find out how such an idea as that of arbitration by the United States would find reception in the Chinese mind."

Chinese Minister's Views.

"His excellency was three and one-half years minister to the United States, and when talking of that period of his diplomatic career his face lit up with a look of pleasurable recollection. He was a Chinese delegate to the peace conference at The Hague, where he met Mr. White and his colleagues, representing the United States, and he was much impressed with the sincerity of the American delegates and the enthusiasm they displayed."

"After considerable preliminary conversation, all leading up to the same point, Minister Yu opened with a very sincere tribute to the United States for the absolute fairness that country had shown to China, which, he said, every Chinaman would remember. But in that respect, he said, he had personally not been at all deceived, because the impression that had most deeply struck him during his United States experience was the practical fairness of all the better class of Americans."

"The I asked him point blank how China would accept the idea of arbitration in the present troubles. His reply was:

"My own idea is that arbitration in this matter would be the ideal solution, for my feeling is that if such a thing is done negotiations will drag on for a long time."

"The idea of arbitration is exceedingly popular with us in China, but," he added a few seconds later, "I fear our people would object to a court of arbitration the members of which comprised only Europeans. They fear that Europeans are prejudiced against them. They would imagine that they were not going to be treated fairly."

"Do you mean, then, that the obstacle is fatal?"

"No," he replied, "we should have to persuade our people that it was all right."

Would Take American Suggestion.

"And, knowing Americans, you have faith in their impartiality and fairness?"

"Myself, absolutely. And I should imagine that with the suggestion coming from the United States it would be readily accepted by our great man and plenipotentiary, Li Hung Chang."

"It is in the interest of the United States to bring about a normal situation in China with the utmost rapidity. America has a large trade with us, and that trade is being very seriously damaged by the condition of things, which may last a long time."

"Do you believe Russia would support the idea?"

"Minister Yu replied that he certainly thought she would, as the czar's pet ideal was arbitration, as shown by his calling together of the peace conference. Then he said:

"England would join, because she also is suffering severely in the matter of trade, which is becoming worse each day."

"What impressed me was the absolute belief which his excellency held that the United States could achieve what no other power could be enabled to, on account of long standing funds and jealousies, and that was the embodiment of an impartial court of arbitration. He favored a court composed of truly independent men, such as the American delegates at The Hague, and not politicians, as arbitrators, and his sentiment of assurance that the idea would appeal to Li Hung Chang just as well as it did to himself was striking in its full confidence."

"He emphasized especially the danger of a prolongation of the present policy as tending to much delay and useless loss of trade, which would not only be a great blow to large American interests, but would eventually prevent China's obtaining those resources which she needed to make good the damage done and pay the necessary indemnities."

Mukden District Was Mined.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—Official dispatches say the Russian papers which were employed to dig out and destroy the mines at Mukden found the whole district mined, and it was only the unexpected arrival of the Russian troops that prevented wholesale destruction. A special commission was appointed to investigate. The advice also that the provincial treasurer escaped and that the Chinese guerrillas had been looting extensively, their booty including the Manchou throne, extensive libraries, collections of pictures and colonial archaeological objects, all of great value.

POISON IN RICE'S BODY.

Expert Withams Finds Traces of Mercury.

New York, Oct. 29.—Following the announcement of Professor Withams' discovery of enough mercury to cause death in the kidneys and intestines of William Marsh Rice, the old millionaire whose sudden death more than a month ago led to so many sensational developments, and the chemist's further statement that mercury formed no part of the fluid used in embalming the body, a consultation of the authorities will be held today which may decide the next step in unraveling the mystery.

Dr. Attorney Gardiner, Coroner Hart, Professor Withams and perhaps Dr. Walker Curry, who was Mr. Rice's physician, will meet in the district attorney's office, and it is probable the chemist will have a supplementary report to make. Although the amount of mercury he found in the body was sufficient to kill a man it was not found in a single organ. Withams did not say so far as his first report. He was then asked to make this statement in a formal statement and to tell if he could find any idea whether this person might have been a principal ingredient of any medicine the old man was taking or if it must have been administered with some other medicine.

"That the old man had a penchant for patent medicines and that he frequently took them is admitted by his physician and others who knew him. Dr. Curry says that in none of the medicine he prescribed for the old millionaire was there any mercury, but he adds that he found Mr. Rice was taking a medicine that was given to him by a friend and that it was without some argument that he induced his patient to stop taking it."

An endeavor to learn what druggist prepared the medicine prescribed by Dr. Curry for Mr. Rice was futile.

Cripple Creek's Big Mine Closed.

Colorado Springs, Oct. 29.—Stratton's Independence gold mine at Cripple Creek is closed. Just when it will reopen is uncertain. The miners insist on the rescinding of the order for searching the men to prevent the stealing of ore. Manager Sullivan is not disposed to change it except to make it stronger. In this he is backed by several of the leading mining companies of Cripple Creek, including the Portland, the Elkhorn, the Gold Coin and others employing in the aggregate 2,500 miners. These mine owners say that their losses from ore stealing reach into the thousands of dollars weekly. Many of the miners, it is asserted, secreted ore worth $5 to $15 a pound in a belt or otherwise hidden their underclothing, some of them carrying off ten or more pounds undetected. The compromise order permits understanding to be worn during inspection. The miners' union is not involved so far. Stratton's Independence employs 300 miners.

Plague in the Yukon Valley.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 29.—The Rev. Father John H. Rone, in charge of the Roman Catholic missions on the Yukon, has arrived at Dawson with a terrible story of the suffering of the natives in that valley from an epidemic of a mysterious disease resembling a combination of pneumonia, measles and typhoid fever. At Holy Cross mission 60 out of 150 Indians died in less than two months. Pandemic now threatens, as the natives have not been able to lay up supplies of fish and game for the winter. The plague has been general all along the river and along the coast of Bering sea, and thousands of natives have died and many more will die from the disease itself or the starvation following in its train.

The Peking Missionaries.

London, Oct. 29.—The Peking correspondent of The Times says: "It is said that the missionary of the United States of Peking-fu has arrested the provincial treasurer, who was chiefly responsible for the ill treatment of the rescued missionaries." Advice from Peking-fu give harrowing accounts of the sufferings of missionaries at the hands of Boxers, and it is reported that ten missionaries are still at Chong-tou-fu. The correspondent of The Morning Post at Peking-fu, writing Oct. 20, says: "The Boxers declared that the provincial treasurer ordered them to kill all foreigners. He allowed 11 Americans and 4 British to be massacred."

Freight Wreck on Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Oct. 29.—The Pennsylvania railroad had a bad freight wreck yesterday at Duncannon, a few miles west of this city. Twenty coal cars were completely broken up and piled 20 feet high. The wreck was badly damaged, and it took wrecking crews five hours to clear one of the tracks. Passenger trains were delayed, the east bound "limited" arriving here over five hours late. The wreck was caused by a broken axle. No one was injured.

Historic Gun at Nashville.

Nashville, Oct. 29.—The gun from which the first shot in the Spanish-American war was fired has reached Nashville, which is to be its permanent home. It is a Hotchkiss to be fired one pounder and comes from the famous Nashville, which sent a shot over the bow of the Spanish merchant vessel Buena Ventura.

Demand Execution of More Officials.

London, Oct. 29.—Dr. Morrison, writing to The Times, under date of Oct. 23, says: "The foreign ministers in conference today decided to add the names of Prince Yi and Ying Xien to those of the seven officials whose execution France has demanded."

MAX MULLER IS DEAD.

The Famous Orientalist Passes Away at Oxford.

HIS LIFE DEVOTED TO RESEARCH.

Edited and Translated Many of the Sacred Books of the East—Had Lived in England Nearly Fifty Years—in Queen's Privy Council.

London, Oct. 29.—The Right Hon. Friedrich Max Muller, corpus professor of comparative philology at Oxford university, is dead. He was born Dec. 6, 1823.

Friedrich Max Muller's title to rank as one of the most distinguished philologists of the century is secured by a long lifetime's output of industrial researches into the origin of languages. To him more than any other scholar since the days of Sir William Jones the western world is indebted for the opening up of the vast field of Sanskrit literature, on the knowledge of which depends a fundamental conception of oriental modes of thought. Max Muller's bent to the study of the languages of the east was early shown.

The son of Wilhelm Muller, the patriotic German poet, he became a diligent pupil of such professors as Eichler for Arabic and Persian and of Brockhaus and Bopp for Sanskrit and comparative philology at Leipzig and Berlin universities. In philology he heard Schelling and, remaining faithful to his early love, brought out years afterward, in 1851, a new translation of Kant's "Critique of Pure Reason," the study of which had perhaps indisposed him to accept many later day materialistic theories for origin and development of the human intellect.

A translation of the "Hitopadesa," a collection of Sanskrit fables, was his first publication. That was followed in 1854 by a new translation of the "Rig Veda," a new Sanskrit manuscript in Berlin and to go to Paris to copy and collate manuscripts in the National library. Eugene Burnouf, who was also his instructor, suggested to him the preparation of an edition of the "Rig Veda."

The collections of the East India company in London and at Oxford, consequently drew him to England. His first friend, whose acquaintance he made in crossing the channel, was a German Irishman, Dr. von Sie, William Howard Russell, then a lecturer in the temple, who was afterward the Christian war correspondent of The Times.

Long Connection With Oxford.

Max Muller's long connection with Oxford began in 1848, as the Clarendon Press was to print the "Rig Veda," the East India company defraying the expense. He became a lecturer on philology and was appointed oriental librarian at the Bodleian. When a new professorship of comparative philology was founded, he was nominated first professor in the chair, and to the close of his life he was intimately associated with the university. His lectures and essays were very numerous on philological and oriental subjects while he was carrying on the publication of his edition of the "Rig Veda." These are collected in his volumes of "Chips From a German Workshop," but he became more widely known from his contributions to current events in his collection of lectures on "The Science of Language" and "The Introduction to the Science of Religion."

While Professor Max Muller made England his home and employed himself chiefly in making known in the English language the treasures of Sanskrit literature his services were well appreciated in Germany, for he was known by his will in the literary magazines of America, France, Germany and Italy. Many marks of personal friendship were shown him by the Emperor William, who on several occasions made him the medium to convey telegrams of congratulation to the athletes of Oxford and academic institutions in which the Kaiser interested himself.

Among the later honors which were bestowed on Professor Max Muller were the first presidency of the international congress of orientalists in 1892, the honorary diploma of the University of Leipzig and numerous addresses from the academies and learned societies to which he belonged on his several visits to England. He was a privy councillor of Great Britain in 1893.

A son of Professor Max Muller is an attaché of the British embassy at Washington.

Japanese Want Firm Policy.

Yokohama, Oct. 29.—The accession of Max Muller to power has been received by the native press generally in a spirit of congratulation, especially in view of the rising feeling that Japan just now needs her strongest man at the helm in order to enable her to assert her rights. The influential papers are clamoring for a strong foreign policy. They favor making the most of Japan's expanded territory in holding the balance of power in the Orient. It is felt that the Chinese difficulty has demonstrated that the western powers are essentially weak because they are not here and cannot get here in anything like powerful force. Japan, being on the spot with her army of half a million and her powerful navy, cannot but dominate the situation, especially if any one of the strong western powers will join hands with her.

THE ALVORD CASE.

Mount Vernon Chief Thinks Embroiler is Near There.

New York, Oct. 29.—Chief of Police Felt of Mount Vernon believes that Cornelius L. Alvord, Jr., the defaulting note holder of the First National bank, is hiding in the vicinity of Mount Vernon. He has been seen in the vicinity of the bank, and it is believed that he is in the vicinity of the bank. He has been seen in the vicinity of the bank, and it is believed that he is in the vicinity of the bank.

Frank K. Wood, a machinist employed by the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, saw a man of Alvord's description driving through a small piece of woods a mile east of Yonkers at 1 o'clock Saturday morning. The man was alone in a light road wagon and was seen an hour later in front of the Alvord residence in Summit avenue, Mount Vernon. This time he was seen by a man who was standing on the opposite side of the avenue from the Alvord house.

The driver passed the residence three times, but no signals were noticed in any of the windows, and the wagon was driven hurriedly away in the direction of Tuckahoe. Detectives from the city arrived in Mount Vernon just before noon yesterday. They were driven to the Alvord residence, where they remained for several hours. Before they left the detectives made a careful inspection of the premises.

Chief of Police Felt said last night: "Barney, the companion for the Alvords, told two of my men that matters would soon be straightened out and settled. I am convinced Alvord is somewhere near here."

The chief would not say what formed the basis of his belief and did not offer to explain what the companion meant.

Pierce Still in Minnesota.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 29.—This city and vicinity have been visited by the worst storm in many years occurring at this time of the year. Lightning did considerable damage in the city, striking in a number of places. All the railroads except the Chicago and North Western have been washed out near Rockland, Wis., and 1,000 feet near West Salem, Wis. The company also suffered slight damage between Winona and Stockton, Minn., on account of high water. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul had two washouts near Lake Umbagog, and another at Lundville. All passenger trains on the river division of the St. Paul road have been abandoned.

Many Football Games.

New York, Oct. 29.—All of the big eleven, except the University of Pennsylvania, were seen against Saturday. Columbia defeated Yale by 12 to 5 in a sensational game in this city. Harvard had to play hard football to conquer the College Indians by a score of 17 to 5 at Cambridge, the red men breaking the hitherto clean record of the Crimson. Princeton beat Brown, 17 to 5, the Providence eleven making a goal from the field. The University of Pennsylvania played a remarkable game against the Chicago university eleven, the final figures being 41 to 0. Cornell disposed of Dartmouth, 28 to 6, and Amherst outplayed the strong Colby eleven.

Registration in Hawaii.

Honolulu, Oct. 29.—All of the big eleven, except the University of Pennsylvania, were seen against Saturday. Columbia defeated Yale by 12 to 5 in a sensational game in this city. Harvard had to play hard football to conquer the College Indians by a score of 17 to 5 at Cambridge, the red men breaking the hitherto clean record of the Crimson. Princeton beat Brown, 17 to 5, the Providence eleven making a goal from the field. The University of Pennsylvania played a remarkable game against the Chicago university eleven, the final figures being 41 to 0. Accidentally Shot His Daughter.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Herman Grenis, a stockbroker at Chester, N. Y., while transferring a revolver that he did not know was loaded from his show window to a showcase, accidentally discharged it, and the bullet entered the cheek of his 10-year-old daughter, who was waiting for him to go home, and lodged in the back part of her skull. The wound is fatal.

Race Cause a Costly Fire.

New York, Oct. 29.—The plant of the Chicago Canning company at Plainfield, N. J., has been swept by fire, and the loss is placed at $75,000, with an insurance of $60,000. Raisin among matches is given as the cause.

END OF THE STRIKE.

Most of the Miners Go to Work Today.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 29.—All the coal companies in the Wyoming valley with a few exceptions have now posted notices granting their employees the 10 per cent increase asked for by the Scranton convention. The exceptions are a few individual operators who do not employ many hands.

The Kingston Coal company has notices posted granting the increase. This company employs 2,300 men and was the last of the big individual concerns in the valley to grant the increase.

The officials of the Susquehanna company had a conference with their employees Saturday night and agreed to pay them the advance.

President Mitchell and the executive board of the United Mine Workers visited Pittston yesterday. They were received by a large crowd, and there was great enthusiasm. Addresses were made by President Mitchell, Fred Diller and others. Mr. Mitchell told all the miners to go to work today. He also congratulated them on their good behavior during the strike.

The Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company, operating the Aiden colliery, at Hazleton district, has not yet applied with the demands of the anthracite miners. It is said that the company will grant the concessions by Nov. 1, when work will be resumed. There will be no resumption of work at the Minesville colliery, which is operated by the A. S. N. Wickel estate. Owing to an agreement with the Pennsylvania Railroad company the officials say they must not afford to grant an increase of 10 per cent, and if the men return to work they will have to be contented with the old rate of wages. The Van Winkle company has granted the increase at its other collieries at Coleraine and Beaver Meadows.

Boring the Bore.

"Come in and see how I got rid of bores. You've often asked my recipe and I'm about to deal with one of the bores of my type. It was an old banker speaking, and he showed his guest into the private office.

"Hello, Orphey," began the bore at sight. "Just dropped in to have a talk about poor Lipsey. I suppose?"

"Yes, of course, neglected his business, gambled away enormous sums of money, fell a victim to the terrible curse of intemperance, dissipated his fortune, and even lost his home. Too bad!"

"Awful! But did you hear?"

"Certainly. Tried to drown his sorrows in deeper potations than ever, lost his trial situation in a commercial house, was branded a bad egg and left to his own resources. Drifted away into a great city, family suffered, he brooded up, found honest employment, won friends and was doing well, everything considered."

"That's right, but?"

"So I heard. Back with us again. He has a fine position, looks like his old self and everybody happy."

"Do you think so?"

"I know he will. A few old enemies think otherwise, but he's all right. We have him for dinner tomorrow night. Goes to the Uppies next night."

"No? I hope?"

"That's all right. So do the rest of us."

"Well, good day. Pretty busy these times."

"So you have it," laughed the banker as he closed the door. "You persist in doing the talking and a bore will run every time."—Detroit Free Press.

Adole Stern Says the Sultan's Wives Disport in Perfumed Steam.

It has remained for a German newspaper woman, Adole Stern, to penetrate the mysteries of the sultan's harem. How Feudalism Stern managed to get into the sacred precincts of the baths she does not say, but she gives a very interesting description of their interior. She says:

"Along the walls are low settees. In the middle of the room stands a magnificent Turkish clock. Near by is a mangal, an open metallic stove from which comes a delicious perfume. On the top is a big bronze pot, in which delicious nectars are being brewed. At every other step is a sort of cradle in which rest from one to three children."

"The delicate harem of Turkish female life can nowhere be better studied than in a bath. The women of the harem enter from an hour to the whole day there."

"And now to the bath itself. It is a veritable fairyland. The soft, damp air, the white marble, the perfumed steam, all help the illusion of being in some nixie land. Right before me, splashing in the water, are two nymphs. Their immense black eyes glaze sadly at me from beneath a mass of raven black hair. Their forms are exquisite, white as the alabaster surrounding them and with skin as soft as the richest velvet."

"At this moment I am accosted by an elderly woman whose arms are muscular in the extreme. 'Maschallah,' she cries, which translated means, 'Oh, thou wonder of God!' Just why she considers me in this light I do not know. Without more ceremony she takes me, plunges me into the water, rinses me, soaps me, and finally places me on a stone couch. UNIVERSALIST BAZAAR.

It Opens In Philbrick Hall Under Promising Conditions.

The Decorations Are Fine And The Booths Have A Rich Store.

Fair Will Last Three Days and Ought to Net a Splendid Sum.

The three days' fair under the auspices of the Universalist society, which was opened in Philbrick hall at half past five o'clock on Monday afternoon, promises to be a splendid success.
If superb decorations, bounteous booths, generous patronage and comprehensive and consistent preparations count for anything, then the bazaar certainly ought to have most satisfactory results, financial and otherwise.
The hall presents a delightful picture, thanks to the artistic accomplishments of those to whom the adornment features of the fair were entrusted, while the booths are arranged fascinatingly and in a manner very agreeable to the eye. Nothing employed in the decking of hall or booths has been used sparingly.
The supper on Monday consisted in part of salads, rolls, iced cream and cakes. The committee in charge consisted of the following: Mr. and Mrs.
Albert H. Entwistle, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Paul, Mr. and Mrs.
Geo. D. Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. J. W.
Rogers, Mrs. P. E. H. Marden, Mrs.
Lyman T. Pray, Mrs. Ella F. Sawyer,
Mrs. Mary S. Cole, Mrs. R. I. Walden,
Miss Alice J. Hanson, Miss Mary
Garland, Wm. N. Noyes, Charles F.
Cole.
There was a brisk sale of the articles offered in the booths throughout the evening.
At eight o'clock, a good entertainment was given, participated in by Philbrick's orchestra and the P. A. C.
"Tigers." The chairman of the entertainment committee was George D.
Whittier, who was assisted by a number of men of the parish.
The executive board under whose general supervision the bazaar is being conducted comprises the following:
Rev. Geo. E. Leighton, chairman; Mrs.
Mary S. Cole, Mrs. Lyman T. Pray, Mrs.
George E. Leighton, Miss Anna B. Mendum, Miss Alice J. Hanson, Miss Mar-

AT THE NAVY YARD.

The yard force continues on the increase.
A new time table is being prepared for the yard ferry.
All the departments are busy getting the Piscataqua ready for her trip to Manila.
Bandmaster Reinwald has been on a four days' leave owing to the death of a relative.
A force of workmen are getting the ways ready to receive the Dahlgren and Craven.

The Universalist Fair has the funny "Old Maids' Convention" for its attraction at Philbrick hall this evening.

CITY BRIEFS.

Nothing sailed from port today.
This is great weather for bicyclists.
Screens are now going into winter quarters.
One week from today and the agony will be on.
There were no arrivals at this port for the day.
Thanksgiving is safe. The turkey crop is reported large.
October has broken all records for marriages in this vicinity.
There is a prospect that the price of coal will drop before long.
The need of a sprinkler was apparent on the streets all day today.
All of the week is likely to be taken up with cases at the supreme court.
One of the chimneys on the Pierce block is being rebuilt from the roof, up.
The Hampton checklist this year contains 370 names, 21 of them being Lam-preys and 20 Blakes.
The price of flour barrels has gone up in the last few days, the low price of apples causing the jump.
There were a number of Portsmouth visitors at Manchester on Monday evening to see the celebration.
The state board of agriculture holds farmers' institutes in Strufford and Rockingham counties this week.
It has been very quiet in the supreme court today. The work of fixing up the dockets occupied all the forenoon.
Two large loads of brick are being discharged at the wharf in the rear of Vaughan's store on Market street.
The Postal Telegraph company has quite a gang of men putting up poles and stringing wires through the city.
The farmers have brought considerable hay into the city the past two days and have disposed of the same at high prices.
Portsmouth will be well represented at Boston on Thursday, when the annual low rate excursion to the Hub will be run on the Boston & Maine.
The steamer Mystic was put on the route between this city and Badger's island and the navy yard again this morning, the necessary repairs having been completed.
The flag on the Liberty pole at the south end is at half-mast today in respect to the memory of William P. Sargent of Manchester, who was so generally known in this city and who was so well liked by the merchants with whom he had dealings.
Portsmouth's store windows never had a more attractive display of fall goods than is seen at the present time.
The merchants seem to have paid especial attention to quality. It is one of the most noticeable evidences of the general prosperity throughout the country.

A FIENDISH ATTACK.

An attack was lately made on O. F.
Gallier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions.
Nor could he help him until he tried Electric Bitters, which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at the Globe Grocery Co.

OF REVOLUTIONARY STOCK.

Mrs. Priscilla Mitchell died in Kansington, Oct. 22, aged 85 years. Mrs.
Mitchell's father was Caleb Hodgdon, who was a soldier in the war of 1812.
Her grandfather, Hanson Hodgdon, was a soldier in the Revolution, and her great grandfather, Caleb, was in the same war, both being stationed at New Castle.

KIRVAN—McCOURT.

A Wedding of Much Interest at the Catholic Church This Morning.

At the Church of the Immaculate Conception at eight o'clock this morning occurred a wedding of more than usual interest and prominence. It was the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Catharine McCourt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. McCourt, to Mr. George Stephen Kirvan, superintendent of the Portsmouth shoe factory.

The church was very crowded with those interested in the event. The marriage ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Father Eugene M.
O'Callaghan.

The bride was Bernadette Mc-Court, sister of the bride, and the groom was attended by Dr. William H.
Lyons of this city. The bride was dressed in a very stylish creation of Brazilian net over white silk, with lace and ribbon trimmings, and wore a white veil caught with lilies of the valley and carried a white prayer book. The bridesmaid's dress was of blue silk mullin, with trimmings of black velvet and lace. She wore a becoming hat of black and blue chiffon and carried a bouquet of roses.

The children's choir of the church furnished the beautiful selections rendered during the ceremony. The ushers at the church were Messrs. John Malloy, M. A. Moynahan, Charles Carty, and W. A. Hurley of Cambridge, Mass.

Immediately after the ceremony at the church the happy couple were driven to the home of the bride on Langdon street, where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Kirvan received a most liberal bestowal of gifts, being remembered with such tokens of esteem and respect from all sides.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirvan left at eleven o'clock for a wedding trip, which will include an extended visit in Washington and New York. The traveling dress of the bride was of dark gray material and hat to match. A host of friends saw the couple off at the passenger station and showered them with rice and scattered old shoes.

The chief attraction at the Universalist Fair at Phil-brick hall this evening will be the laughable "Old Maids' Convention."

A REVIVAL INTEREST.

Meetings in which a revival interest is already manifest are being held in the Pearl street church.
The Sunday services were of deep interest, Evangelist Whittier speaking in the morning, and Mrs. Morse conducting the evening service.
Monday evening Rev. Mr. Monton spoke from the words: "The willing and the obedient shall eat the good of the land," and sang two solos in a very effective manner. A good congregation was present, and an encouraging interest shown.
Mr. Monton will speak and sing tonight, and a meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

The One Cause of Poor Teeth

Says Dr. Cutter, of Harvard University:—

"There is every probability that the present prevalence of erupting and easily decaying teeth is due for one cause, to the use of flour as food."

The Massachusetts State Board of Health Reports give this startling fact:—

"Of 880 school children in three towns near Boston, under twelve years of age, two thirds had decayed teeth."
